Arrival of your group late in the morning at Alberese for visiting the Maremma Park extending for ca. 25 km with a chain of hills that descend to the sea, sandy beaches and towering cliffs, surrounded by marshes, pinewoods, cultivated fields and pastures. The Park welcomes the visitor showing off its sweet side and at the same time wild: a contrast that awakens the pleasure to feel in a "paradise regained". Free lunch or lunch in a farmhouse based on typical products menu (if booked). In the afternoon transfer to the entrance of centre of Alberese, meeting with the Guide and start of the visit in this beautiful Natural Park. Cycling through the farm's road across the pasture area, it is possible to admire the herds of cows and Maremma's horses, who are living today in the wild. Beyond the dam, turn to Porto Ercole. After crossing the large car park, take the dirt road to the left up to the house of "Corpo Forestale dello Stato". Continue right on the dirt road in the heart of the "Tombolo della Feniglia" towards the lagoon. Continue riding always following the path and avoiding detours on the right. Reached the main road, turn left in front of the building of the "Corpo Forestale di Stato". The route becomes now on asphalt. Keeping left, pass the "Etruscan Tagliata" and turn right down the Hill (2 miles) to reach the promontory with the ruins and the archeological museum of "Cosa". From here, turn right and, without going past the railway bridge, then turn left onto the street on which access is limited to pedestrians and cyclists.
